During space allocation, numbers will be withdrawn at random and each representative or agent will choose the desired space based on the Trade Fair planimetrics. (*, **)

Numbers for Category A will be selected first, followed by those for Categories B, C and D, respectively. Within each category, exhibitors CAS and/or CASEL member companies will select the stands first. Then will select exhibitors non-member companies, and then new companies will select. Once all numbers have been withdrawn for a selected category (whether it is A, B, C or D), remaining companies will be given the opportunity to access the previous category.

If when selecting a space, a company would like to reduce the stand surface to a category below their original category, the company will receive a new order number and will select in the following category. Also, if a company arrives late to the allocation of their respective category, it will have to wait until the end of the allocation process for that category.
